This is the second Office action for serial application number 10/799,969, Ornament Base, filed March 12, 2004.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 22-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 22, line 3, it is unclear if "said display base" should read "base" since the display base is the inventive device. The language states "said display base comprising a top surface for supporting said platform having voids therein...." This language implies display base is a component of the display base having a top surface for supporting the platform. Therefore, it is believed the display base should read base.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 8, 10-14, and 22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by U.S. Patent No. D450,620 to Simpson. The present invention reads on Simpson as follows: Simpson teaches an apparatus for supporting and displaying an object. The apparatus comprises a platform, at least one attachment means and a base. The platform has a top surface and a bottom surface. The top surface is adapted for supporting the object. The base has top and bottom surfaces, wherein the top surface of the base is mounted upon the top surface of the platform. The at least one attachment means (namely the clips and screws) is removably affixed to the bottom surface of the platform and oriented thereon to permit attachment of the platform to a horizontal projection such that the top surface is positioned generally upright. The base has a top surface and a number of voids (the holes used to receive the bolts of the at least one attachment member) disposed within the top surface corresponding to the number and position of the attachment means and dimensioned to receive the attachment means within the base when the platform rest on top surface of the base. The at least one attachment means has a first end and a second end. The first end of the at least one attachment means comprises opposite, opposing jaw members biased towards one another. The second end of the at least one attachment means comprises legs that when forced together separate the opposite, opposing jaw members. The jaw members of the at least one attachment means is connected by a pivot pin and is biased towards one another by torsional spring. The jaw members contain penetrating or frictional means to prevent the platform from rotating about the generally horizontal projection. The penetrating means are teeth. The at least one attachment means is an alligator clip. See figures below.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1-7 and 16 are allowed.

Claims 15, 23 and 24 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: the prior art of record fails to teach the platform having an integral metal contact and the base having an integral magnet to secure the platform to the base, in combination with the other elements recited therein.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Borzelleca 6,227,388 and Coviello 5,124,903 teach an apparatus similar to that of applicant's claimed invention.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

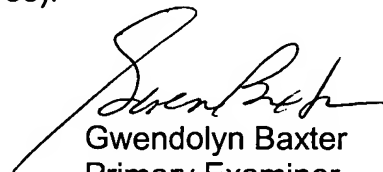

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
